KOCH-HAEFELE

Like an ancient gentleman, of whom we read in Holy Writ, your correspondent was wandering to and fro up and down in the earth on last Wednesday, June 29th, 1910. From a hilltop near McKinley postoffice his eye lighted on a curious scene, Joe Haeefe's house surrounded by horses and buggies, seemingly without number and decorated on the south side by a big red touring car. Of course the correspondent of this invaluable journal drew nigh. Inquiry brought out the fact that a high noon wedding was about to be celebrated, and the delicious odors from Mrs. Haeefe's kitchen spoke of so many good things to follow that "ye scribe" could not resist the temptation to stay and jot down the following:

The fortunate young man was Jacob Koch, a prosperous young farmer of Merna, and the pretty little bride was Miss Elizabeth Grace Haeefe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Haeefe. The attendants were Miss Carrie Koch and Clayton Yohn. Miss Bertha Barrett of Broken Bow played the beautiful wedding march, and Rev. C. P. Netherly of Callaway tied the golden knot.

The features of especial interest in connection with this happy event might be summed up as follows: It was the request of the interested young people that not only the ring ceremony be used but that the solemn, splendid and elaborate Episcopal form be followed. This grand ritual is used by all ministers upon request and is one of the longest and most beautiful wedding ceremonies known to the Protestant church.

The bride was given away by her father in a very neat little speech. In point of attendance this was one of the largest weddings in the county this year, there being ninety-six guests counted at the great wedding banquet that followed the nuptials. With the exception of three or four families these guests were all related. It being in fact, a kind of family reunion. The dinner was followed by a great ball game, participated in by nearly all the gentlemen present. In this exciting game, the Hon. Joseph Haeefe distinguished himself by stopping a level with his mouth. This, of course put that useful and active member of Joe's anatomy out of commission for a few minutes. A thing which the oldest inhabitants say never happened before.

The happy young people received many useful and beautiful presents. They will be at home to their many friends on the ranch near Merna after July 4th. This paper joins with hosts of well wishers of these glad young folks that they may have a prosperous and happy married life of long and useful years.

A Big Celebration

The 4th was an ideal day. The heat was not excessive, a cool breeze all day. The rain Saturday afternoon previous had dried off sufficiently so the roads were not bad and there was no dust on the streets.

People began to arrive early in the morning and by ten o'clock the city was crowded with people. Numbering from 5000 to 10,000. Some say it was the largest crowd ever gathered in Broken Bow. "No wonder" remarked an observer from the outside. "The news papers of Broken Bow advertised it liberally."

The program as advertised was carried out to the letter. But the people were too many and too busy for all of them to see it all.

It was a picnic occasion. Many brought their lunch baskets well filled and at the noon hour squads of people by localities or families sought out shady nooks in various parts of the city and enjoyed their dinner together.

The display of fire works continued up to midnight and many who were there were loth to leave for home.

It was a big day for Broken Bow and a good time for all who attended.

Nort Amsberry who was canvassing in the vicinity was called to Ansley Friday morning by the sickness of his wife who it was thought was affected with spinal meningitis.

J. A. Moore, special government land inspector arrived in Broken Bow to resume work. He was taken off the work early in January 1910 owing to the shortage of finance in that department.

To the lovers of classical and operatic music of the Signor Lombardo Symphony Band and Grand Opera Company of 44 instruments and 24 grand opera singers, 8 of whom are soloists of national fame, at the State Fair, Sept. 5th to 9th, will present an opportunity which is seldom offered our citizenship, as such organizations only made occasional visits to but two cities in Nebraska, and then at such prices of admission that the possibility of attendance is limited.

Junior Normal.

Many students went to their homes in various parts of this and surrounding counties for the short vacation on July 4th. Practically all were in their places Tuesday morning.

Prof. E. W. Marcellus, who is superintendent of the school at Crete, has been selected by State Supt. Bishop to a membership on the faculty for the rest of the summer. Prof. Marcellus will have charge of the work in Agriculture, in which subject he is a specialist. He is a graduate of the State Normal at Peru, of the Northwestern University at Chicago and has been specializing in Agriculture at the State University. Supt. Marcellus is recognized as one of the strong men in the state, and Broken Bow is indeed fortunate in securing his services.

Several Principals of various Junior Normals have written Supt. Elliott congratulating him upon having the largest enrollment in the state. O'Neil, which had the largest last year, was first to recognize Broken Bow's superiority.

F. C. Williams, travelling representative of Silver Burdette & Co. made an interesting chapel talk during his visit to the normal this week.

Representative McLaughlin, of D. C. Heath & Co., gave a chapel talk Wednesday morning.

Special lectures are being given this week to the student body by Miss Bertha H. Knoll, who is superintendent of the model school. Miss Knoll is an educator of wide reputation, and is known to have worked out one of the best system of primary teaching in the state.

Prof. J. G. W. Lewis returned Tuesday from a business trip to Lincoln and other eastern points.

The fourth of July address on "Patriotism" delivered by Supt. Elliott, is considered one of the finest speeches ever heard in Custer county. Nearly all the students were present in the large audience and a group of the more enthusiastic ones greeted ed the speaker with Junior Normal yells. Supt. Elliott has a state-wide reputation as an orator, and his patriotic address was a rare treat.

The class in botany under Prof. Williams has taken up a systematic course in Microscopic mounting and observation.

Prof. Hudrews spent July 4 at his home in Lincoln, returning Wednesday morning.

Miss Burley is working up unusual interest in her orthography by means of her "Baseball spelling a system which is entirely her own invention.

Frank Newman of Hanover passed through the city last Thursday morning on his way home accompanied by his bride. They have been visiting his parents at Dunning.

Called Home.

He was sick only a few days with scarlet fever and until a few hours before his death was thought to be improving. His death came as a result of heart trouble.

Funeral services were held Saturday evening by Rev. Racey of Merna at the Merna cemetery where laid to rest.

Warren was a loving obedient son, and his quiet winning way endeared himself to all who knew him.

He leaves a father, mother, four brothers, and one sister beside a host of friends to mourn him.
